

EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT

1. Parties

This Employment Contract ('Contract') is entered into between Acme Corporation Ltd ('the Company'), registered at 42 Innovation Drive, London, EC2A 4DP, and the Employee named on the accompanying offer letter.

This Contract sets out the terms and conditions of employment and supersedes any prior agreements, representations, or understandings between the parties.

2. Role and Duties

The Employee is engaged in the role specified in the offer letter. The Employee shall perform all duties reasonably associated with this role, and any additional duties the Company may assign from time to time.

The Employee shall report to their line manager and comply with all reasonable instructions. The Company reserves the right to change the Employee's duties, job title, or reporting line, provided such changes are reasonable.

3. Probation Period

The first 3 months of employment constitute a probationary period. During this time, either party may terminate the Contract with 1 week's written notice.

At the end of the probationary period, the Company will confirm the Employee's appointment in writing, extend the probation by up to 3 additional months, or terminate employment. Performance reviews will be conducted at 6-week intervals during probation.

4. Notice Period

After successful completion of the probationary period, the Employee must provide 30 days' written notice before resignation. The Company must also provide 30 days' written notice before termination, except in cases of gross misconduct.

During the notice period, the Company may, at its discretion, place the Employee on garden leave. The Employee remains bound by all contractual obligations during garden leave and shall not commence alternative employment.

In cases of gross misconduct, the Company reserves the right to terminate employment immediately without notice or payment in lieu of notice.

5. Working Hours

The standard working week is 40 hours, typically Monday to Friday, 9:00 AM to 5:30 PM with a one-hour unpaid lunch break. The Employee may be required to work additional hours to meet business needs.

Overtime is not automatically compensated unless the Employee's role is classified as overtime-eligible. Overtime-eligible employees receive 1.5× their standard hourly rate for hours worked beyond 40 per week, and 2× for work on public holidays.

6. Salary and Benefits

The Employee's salary is stated in the offer letter and is paid monthly on the last working day of each month via bank transfer. The salary is subject to applicable tax and national insurance deductions.

The Employee is enrolled in the Company's pension scheme after successful completion of probation. The Company contributes 5% and the Employee contributes a minimum of 3% of gross salary. Additional voluntary contributions may be made.

Private health insurance is provided after 6 months of continuous service. The Employee may add dependents at their own cost.

7. Confidentiality

The Employee shall not, during or after employment, disclose any Confidential Information to any third party without prior written consent from the Company. 'Confidential Information' includes trade secrets, client lists, financial data, business strategies, and proprietary technology.

Upon termination, the Employee must return all Company property, documents, and data. This obligation survives the termination of this Contract indefinitely.

8. Restrictive Covenants

For a period of 6 months following termination, the Employee shall not: (a) solicit or deal with any client of the Company with whom they had material contact in the 12 months prior to termination; (b) recruit or entice away any employee of the Company; (c) engage in any business that competes directly with the Company within a 25-mile radius of the Company's registered office.

These covenants are considered reasonable and necessary to protect the Company's legitimate business interests.